There are not only many exquisitely designed pavilions with Chinese architectural features scattered in the park is exuding a strong classical charm, but also a pond in the garden , shining upon the surrounding trees and buildings. (2) Activity results

During the visit, children had a preliminary understanding of Chinese architecture with feeling the uniqueness of ancient Chinese architecture , and also cultivated their sensitivity to beauty.

Various amusement facilities in the park allow children to enjoy themselves with happiness and freedom. It not only allows children to use their imagination and creativity, but also develops their collaboration and social skills.

children also learn rules and etiquette of the park such as keep the park tidy, not littering, respecting the rights of others, protecting the environment, and not destroying the homes of plants and animals. These rules teach children to behave as a responsible park user.

Suggestion :

1. Increasing the visiting time:

Environment of the park is so large that children cannot experience all the facilities that make them feel a little unsatisfied. And also, because of various facilities, there is only a short viewing time for each attraction before moving to another. Increasing the visiting time will help children to understand and feel more detail about the Chinese culture.

Most of the park's facilities are under maintenance :

Most of the park's facilities are under maintenance which causes children have to take a lot of detours to get there ,with feeling a pity for some unseen attractions .
