Activity name: K 2-- Understanding of Houses

Activity aims: Children can learn about Hong Kong's history, culture and architectural features by visiting the Sam Tung Uk Museum, and enhance children's knowledge and understanding of intangible cultural heritage through guided tours.

Activity Results and Suggestions:

(1) Activity Content

This activity will take children to the museum to gain an in-depth understanding of the historical background, architectural features, and important role of San Tung House in Hong Kong culture. The exhibition area will display a wealth of Hong Kong historical and cultural exhibits, including daily necessities, traditional costumes, and architectural models, allowing children to experience the lifestyle of Hong Kong in the past. The event will provide a detailed introduction to the history and preparation methods of Poon Choi, as well as its importance during festive occasions. In addition, models of Hong Kong's famous dim sum, such as siu mai and shrimp dumplings, will also be on display to showcase Hong Kong's diverse food culture and allow children to gain a more comprehensive understanding of Hong Kong's cultural heritage.

(2) Activity Results

Through this activity, children have improved their knowledge, skills, and attitudes. In terms of knowledge, through guided tours and exhibitions, children can learn about the historical background, cultural heritage, and traditional customs of Hong Kong, thereby increasing their understanding of local culture, including an understanding of the architectural design and structure of three houses, and learning the characteristics and architecture of ancient buildings. aesthetics. In terms of skills, through visits and guided tours, children can develop their ability to observe and understand. In terms of attitude, understand and respect different cultures and traditions, and cultivate a sense of identity and pride in Hong Kong culture. Inspire children's curiosity with museum visits and interactive activities .

a positive impact on children's learning . In addition, an experience area can be added to further deepen children's understanding of the activities. For example, let children wear traditional clothes, experience ancient lifestyles, interact in simulated ancient family scenes , and learn about the daily lives of the ancestors. These additional experiences can not only enhance their interest in history and culture, but also make the learning process more lively and interesting.
